

Anne Bull

Anne Bull, a supervisor of teacher education. Bull was appointed as Governor Haley's educator representative, replacing Dennis Drew.

Bull received her Masters of Education from Clemson University and has served as a supervisor of teacher education at the University of South Carolina since 2011. Prior to 2011, she taught for 32 years in South Carolina public schools. While in Lexington School District One, Bull was a top five finalist for the district teacher of the year. She was Teacher of the Year for the Lexington Intermediate School in 2001-2002. She authored a gifted curriculum that was used in several South Carolina school districts and while in Oconee County, implemented a program of developmental therapy.

Bull serves as a volunteer for Chris Meyers Children's Place in Lexington, SC and is currently serving as Vice President of West Metro Women's Club. She is a former president of the Iris Garden Club and is a member of Lexington Baptist Church. Originally from Easley, SC, Bull is married to Dennis Bull, CPA, and has two children: Sally Emory Hiott and Seth Jackson Bull.

"I am honored to have been appointed by the Governor for this position," stated Bull. "It is a privilege to serve my state and I will do my best to perform the duties I am assigned."